MUD RACING AT AQUEDUCT.

JAMES B. BRADY TAKES THE BELLE-ROSE STAKES IN A CANTER.

Bouquet Scores in a Close Finish—Miss Sain Runs Poorly—Okenite Wins at Last—McDaniel Rides Two Winners.

New York, November 6.—A driving rainstorm that lasted all day long made racing at Aqueduct this afternoon particularly disagreeable. The card originally gave promise of high class sport, but the change in the track condition, it being deep and slushy before the first race was called, resulted in numerous scratches. Only two of the favorites were first home, although each winner was well supported and there was no race that furnished a real surprise. King Cobalt was the shortest priced horse that went to the post during the afternoon and, after being backed with confidence at 9 to 20, he was beaten out by Bouquet.

After the scratching of The Squire and Monopolist in the race, King Cobalt was looked upon as a particularly good thing, although there was nothing in his past form that warranted the short price that was offered. Bouquet never gave her backers any uneasiness. She was speedy enough to go to the front at the rise of the barrier and McDaniel hustled her along in that position all the way. Right at the end King Cobalt, under a long drive, closed up slightly, but at the finish the filly still had nearly three parts of a length to spare. Miss Sain, only recently shipped from the west, was one that was fancied on account of her known ability to run well in mud. She was backed from fifteen down to eight, but a distant third was the best she could accomplish.

The feature of the day was the Bellerose Stakes, which was won easily by James B. Brady. He was always the choice, though 6 to 5, a very liberal price in view of what he had been showing, was offered. He was never fully extended to win in a canter from Aracsee, the second choice, while Woodlane just saved third place from Goldquest. The tabular history of the Bellerose Stakes is as follows:

Year.	Winner.	Wt.	Jockey.	Val.	Time.
1902	W. R. Condon	110	Shaw	$1,370	1:08
1903	Emergency	102	Gannon	1,280	1:06
1904	Coy Maid	99	Hildebrand	1,170	59
1905	Arklight	107	W. Miller	1,195	1:13
1906	Belcast	102	Notter	1,115	1:14
1907	James B. Brady	107	W. Miller	1,190	1:14

Frank Lord, which has recently shown a return to form, was best in the first, a six furlong handicap. Comedienne was the choice, but she was always outfooted and finished last of the four that started. In this race the high-priced W. H. Daniel ran and, after racing head and head with Frank Lord all through the early stages, faded away and was easily beaten for second place by General Haley. On behalf of his showing there is the excuse that he was led to the post long before the other horses arrived and was compelled to stand in the cold rain long enough to become thoroughly chilled. It is doubtful if he could have beaten Frank Lord, but this handling surely hurt his chances not a little.

Glencoe, after having been away from the races for a long time, has come back a very useful horse. Today he repeated his recent good race by beating a fairly good lot of selling platers over the mile and a sixteenth distance. Lord Stanhope, the favorite, was a close second. Okenite was the winner of the day that ran the most remarkable race. He was lengths behind his opponents at the start and apparently hopelessly beaten, but came on to win easily from Tramp, the pacemaker.

At the end of the program the frequently touted Al H. Woods finally escaped from the maiden class. He was the favorite.

YEARLINGS SHOW FAST TRIALS.

Lexington, Ky., November 6.—With a strong wind blowing in their faces four yearlings worked quarters through the stretch at the local track this morning in 24 seconds. They were R. L. Thomas' bay filly, by Sempronius—Lady Hope; D. T. Morris' brown colt, by Tithonus—Geneva R.; Julius Bauer's chestnut filly, by Previous—Mary Street, and Kimball Patterson's chestnut colt, by Nasturtium—Haste. The most impressive performance was that of Mr. Morris' colt. The colts by Sempronius—Tody Smith, Cameron—Gold Wings and Monsieur de L'Orme—Suspension, working for the first time, ran eighths in twelve seconds.

W. H. Laudeman has returned from the east. He says he broke about even on the season, after having been far behind in his booking operations.

AN ENGLISH RACING BARGAIN.

Another instance of what bargains are to be picked up occurred at Sandown Park, London, when Mr. Allison gave $60 for Colara, a two-year-old son of Collar and Rosaline. The dam was given by Mr. Jack Joel for sale for the benefit of the Fresh Air Fund and, reckoned too small for racing, fetched $125 at Hurst Park to the late Mr. Doyle. She, at the Cobham Stud grew up a couple of inches and so improved that with a foal at foot by St. Frusquin, she fetched $4,500 and her yearling by Orme realized $3,005 to Lord Howard de Walden at Doncaster.—London Sportsman.

BERKELEY'S REVERSAL OF FORM.

Displays Marked Improvement Over Previous Effort—Jockey Diggin's Suspended.

Baltimore, Md., November 6.—The card today at Pimlico suffered by comparison with that of yesterday and was somewhat lacking in quality. Seven races were on the program and they held the interest well, notwithstanding the horses were of the lower class. Speculation was lively, with favorites and long shots dividing honors. Eonite, which was recently purchased by J. M. Cooper from J. W. Pangle, started for the first time under his new owner's colors in the first race and won rather easily from Chief Desmond and Servile. Quite a warm tip was out on Scallop and he was backed from 10 to 1 to 4 to 1 at post time.

The Wrestler came to life today and captured the second race with ease. He had to be much the best to win, as he was turned the wrong way when the barrier went up.

The steeplechase for three-year-olds, the feature of the day, resulted in an upset. Touchwood was regarded by the Garth following as invincible and was made a 6 to 5 favorite. Monkey Puzzle and Percentage were next in demand, with any price against the others. Percentage, which acted badly at the post, delaying the start, set a warm pace to the second time around. Touchwood and Monkey Puzzle fell and this left Percentage appearing the winner. Lizzie Flat, however, was closing up fast and, after taking the last jump, the mare shot to the front and won going away from the tiring Percentage handily. C. C. Smithson, Lizzie Flat's owner, had a good bet down and won $3,000 over her victory. After the race William Garth offered Mr. Smithson $2,500 for the mare.

Berkeley won the sixth race handily, displaying a decided reversal of form and beating out the choices, Sam Bernard and Neosalecta. The last time Berkeley was out he could not raise a common gallop. His performance today set the stewards to thinking and they have suspended Diggin's, who rode him in his last race, for the rest of the meeting.

Cloten fell very lame in the stretch in the fifth race, won by Ivanhoe, and will not race again this year.

Frank McCabe has sold Killochan to T. E. Manix.

Notre Knip, which finished third in the gentlemen's race yesterday, has gone lame and is out of it for this season.

It is raining here tonight and the track will be heavy tomorrow.

SCHREIBER'S STABLE AT OAKLAND.

Oakland, Cal., November 2.—Two shipments of horses belonging to Barney Schreiber arrived at the track today. Eleven came from the east in charge of Dave Henry and eight which have been turned out at Woodland, Cal., since the close of the Butte meeting, were brought down by R. S. Plunkett. They were Banford, Expectant, Orlina, Emily M. and four yearlings. The horses from Latonia and Woodlands Farm were Deutschland, Bannock Bob, Gracious Dame, Piquart and seven yearlings. Mr. Schreiber is expected here before the end of next week.

S. C. Hildreth and trainer Lowe have been devoting considerable time and care in schooling the Hildreth yearlings at the barrier and the youngsters have learned what is required of them when they are sent to the post.

The best work-outs today were: Optician, a mile in 1:44; the quarter post time of which was 1:04; 1:15 and 1:20; J. C. Clem, three-quarters in 1:17; Sahara, three-quarters in 1:16; Loretta, five-eighths in 1:05; Early Tide, three-quarters in 1:15; Creston, three-quarters in 1:16; Proper, one-half in 54; Daruma, one-half in 49; Ambitious, five-eighths in 1:03; Entre Nous, five-eighths in 1:03; Spring Ban, three-quarters in 1:16; San Nicholas, one mile in 1:48; Neva Lee, three-quarters in 1:25; F. Neugent, three-quarters in 1:21; Pelham, three-quarters in 1:16; Frascuelo, three-quarters in 1:20; Massa, three-quarters in 1:22; Golden Rule, five-eighths in 1:06; Banlada, three-quarters in 1:17; Lady Hildreth, five-eighths in 1:04; Sugar Maid, seven-eighths in 1:34.

Judge E. C. Hopper arrived from his home in Kentucky yesterday and was an interested visitor at the track. Martin Nathanson is also here from Chicago, bringing a big list of stake entries which he secured while in New York last month. Mr. Nathanson will be steward and associate judge in the stand with Mr. Hopper.

BROOKS DISPLEASURES "CURLEY" BROWN

The talk of a new race track for southern California, to be built at Venice, a seashore resort near Los Angeles, has been revived. It appears that H. D. "Curley" Brown, who has been in verbal charge of the project for several months, has been displaced by J. W. Brooks, former manager of Ascot Park, who was turned down by the new organization which is building a race track at Santa Anita. Brooks, while not stating his connection with the Venice project, declares that he has looked over all of the plans and will be in a position in a day or two to make public his intentions. "I will say this," says Mr. Brooks, "that there is no such thing as an 'outlaw' track any more. It may be that the new track will be refused dates in some directions, but that will make no difference, racing will go on there just the same."

It is reported that the transfer of 123 acres of land adjoining Venice and Ocean View has been made and the first payment on the property also made, with the deeds running to J. M. White, H. D. Brown and others. The name of T. D. Sullivan of New York is being paraded as one of the influential backers of Brooks & Co. Mr. Sullivan has denied having any interest with the Venice project.

FUTURE BELMONT PARK FIXTURES.

Events Show Large Entry Lists—Haggin's Lot Highly Bred Youngsters.

The Westchester Racing Association's stakes, which closed October 15, received the following entry lists:

Juvenile Stakes of 1908, two-year-olds	88
Fashion Stakes of 1908, two-year-old fillies	76
Withers Stakes of 1909, three-year-olds	100
Ladies Stakes of 1909, three-year-old fillies	78
Belmont Stakes of 1910, three-year-olds	116

Perhaps the most interesting of these events at this time to students of breeding is the Belmont of 1910. This long-established race will for the first time be run that year with the splendid endowment of $20,000 added and will be the richest American stake for three-year-olds. The recent closing was for foals of 1907 and those entered were as a rule nominated by their breeders, J. B. Haggin, for instance, entering sixty-one out of a total of 116. Supplementary entries of yearlings will be received next year, closing October 15, 1908, by which time owners of purchased youngsters will be ready to make engagements for them and the Belmont list should be raised to double its present size.

The Haggin list contains youngsters owing paterinity to such untried sires as Africander, Waterboy and McChesney and in all the following sires are represented: Watercress, by two foals; Star Ruby, by four; Goldfinch, by six; Bute, by one; Kinley Mack, by three; Diendonne, by seven; Waterboy, by three; Royal Flush III., by five; Africander, by three; McChesney, by three; Mimic, by two; Sombrero, by four; Greenan, by seven; Kilmar-nock, by two; Indio, by three; Gerolstein, by five, and Montana, by one. The former Chicago favorite, McChesney, is represented by a brown colt, dam Rank; a brown colt, dam Twinkle, and a chestnut colt, dam Gold Order. Africander's three are a bay colt, dam Zeala; a bay colt, dam Florence Breckenridge, and a bay colt, dam Accurate. Waterboy has a bay colt, dam Primitive; bay colt, dam Gyp Fonso and a bay colt, dam French.

H. P. Whitney has seven nominations, four by Hamburg and three by Irish Lad. The Hamburgs are a bay colt, dam Blue Girl; bay colt, dam Yorkville Belle; chestnut colt, dam Regatta II., and bay filly, dam Martha II., the latter being a full sister to the grand filly Artful. The Irish Lads are a brown colt, dam Urania; a brown colt, dam Repute and a bay filly, dam Handspan. James R. Keene's nominations are a brown or black colt, by Disguise—Emma C.; a brown colt, by Disguise—Swiftfoot; a chestnut colt, by Voter—Noonday and a bay colt, by Ben Brush—Pink Domino. Barney Schreiber is represented by a bay colt, by Sain—La Rella; bay colt, by Sain—Mayflower, and a bay colt, by Sir Hercules—Miss Marion.

An interesting feature revealed by the publication of the Belmont list is that several owners have already named their foals of this year, an act that the majority of owners defer as long as may be possible. The promptness with which Mr. August Belmont acts in this matter has long been a matter of public knowledge and the names of the Belmont youngsters are annually the first published. His nominations to the Belmont are an illustration and here are their names and breeding:

Amoret, ch. c. by Hastings—Aurata.
Astecot, ch. c. by Hastings—Astoria.
Burgman, ch. c. by Hamburg—Enechantress.
Consensa, b. f. by Meddler—Beldame.
Doncourt, b. c. by Octagon—Donna Mia.

St. Augustus, b. c. by Hastings—St. Agnes.
Starbottle, ch. c. by Hastings—Sunfish.
Tasteful, ch. c. by Hastings—Tarpela.

Mr. Belmont is not the only owner who has youngsters nominated that have been named, for Sam Lazarus has two, T. L. Watt, three and W. L. Powers, one. They are:

Sam Lazarus—
Etta May, br. f. by Macy—Etta Gilroy.
Grandissimo, blk. or br. c. by Macy—Janet N.

ENGLISH JOCKEYS MODERATELY PAID

"There is going to be a shuffling up of jockeys in the coming season, both in England and on the continent," says the Sportsman. "The tendency in England is to cut down retainers to jockeys and on the continent to increase them. In Austria bigger retainers are paid than in any other country. Sensible men have long ceased to place credence in paragraphs from the United States regarding salaries there earned by jockeys. French owners used to pay big salaries, and do so still, but they are being beaten by their German and Austrian friends. A jockey who ten years ago in England would have commanded $15,000 a year would now ask $10,000. "L. Hewitt, the New Zealand jockey who came over to ride for Mr. J. Buchanan, has been engaged for next season by Mr. W. Hall Walker to take the place of B. Lynham, who is going to France. Mr. Walker's horses will shortly be transferred to the care of Mr. H. S. Persse, at Grately."

BELDAME HAS A DAUGHTER.

CONSENSA, RESULT OF THE GREAT MARE'S UNION WITH MEDDLER.

Nominated for Belmont Stakes of 1910—How Sire Was Chosen and Mr. Belmont and John Hyland Parted.

New York, November 5.—Among the yearlings of 1907 entered in the Belmont Stakes of 1910, nominations to which have just been made public, is the filly Consensa, by Meddler, out of Beldame. She is owned by August Belmont and so unusual a name is due to the fact that the yearling is by a stallion chosen by a majority of the committee of international breeding experts, as a fit mate for the peerless Suburban winner. She had not won the Suburban when this committee's report was made, but immediately after her decisive victory in that memorable race, Mr. Belmont, in the natural exhilaration of the moment, said to W. H. Rowe, the pedigree expert, now the editor of the stud book, "I bow to the decision of the committee in choosing Meddler, but I would have preferred another horse." Mr. Belmont did not mention the name of the horse he would have chosen. A year later came the death of Sir James Miller in England, which put upon the market the triple event winner, Rock Sand, and, as William Easton was at that time in England, he promptly began negotiation for the horse on behalf of Mr. Belmont.

After some of the most hurried negotiations ever heard of, during which large sums were spent in cabling, which must have astonished the slow-going British executors of the deceased turfman's will, Rock Sand was purchased for $125,000 and, as he was insured for that amount, this and the cost for sending him to America, must have reached in the neighborhood of $135,000 before his new owner caught sight of him on the vessel which brought him over. Except Ormonde, Rock Sand was the most costly purchase which had ever landed in America and the dock was the scene of no little excitement. Rock Sand at first declining to leave the vessel until a little coaxing succeeded in allaying his timidity. It is safe to say that as long as both live, or until the union proves a failure, Rock Sand will be mated with Beldame and the produce will be watched with more than usual interest, especially by Mr. Easton, who, in his unobtrusive way, has figured largely in the destiny of both these illustrious racers.

It was his efforts which placed Beldame in the fall of her two-year-old career in the hands of Fred Burlew for Newton Bennington, in whose name she won all those great races at three years old which served to confer fame upon her. Mr. Easton has for years been a potent adviser to James B. Haggin when each season that noted breeder has placed upon the market the output of the Rancho del Paso Stud. It was the famous auctioneer which brought to Mr. Haggin's attention desirable trainers in whose hands it was wise to place the Haggin racers. He had seen that Burlew had been very successful in early development of young thoroughbreds, and when, a short time after the Sheepshead fall meeting of 1903, Mr. Belmont unexpectedly announced that he was about to retire for a time from racing and put all his race horses up to be sold, Easton suggested that Burlew would be a good man to take Beldame and race her for a year. Her racing qualities were all that were sold. The arrangement proved so successful that Beldame went through the year 1904 with a remarkable record and this caused Mr. Belmont to determine to come back to the turf, which he had really never left and, in 1905, Beldame ran in his name and colors and won the Suburban of that year, greatly to her owner's delight. It was his second victory for the famous classic, Henry of Navarre having won for him in 1896, though he ran in the name of the Blemion Stable, an arrangement due to a domestic bereavement at that time. John J. Hyland trained Henry of Navarre for Mr. Belmont that year and the friends of that trainer have thought that it was a cruel stroke of fate when the elements contributed to his severance of relations with his employer in the autumn of 1903, which prevented the possibility of his earning the fame which attaches to the trainer of so great a performer as Beldame was.

Strange to say, it was due to a rainstorm which fell on the morning of Futurity day of 1903. The track had been rendered into such a state that Hyland feared the effect of the going on Beldame. Up to the very last moment within the legal time of scratching Hyland waited, and at last it was decided not to run. The jockey who was to have ridden the mare, stood waiting the decision of the owner and trainer. His name had been sent out on the tissue slips announcing preliminary information and, at least one well-known turf journalist never knew until the next day that Beldame did not start, and he wrote of her as having run in the race, which was won by Hamburg Belle, with another Hamburg second in Leonidas. Three days later Beldame and Ocean Tide fought out the finish of the Great Filly Stakes and, after a terrific struggle, Beldame was awarded the race. Within a month came the surprising news that Mr. Belmont was selling off. It marked the termination of Hyland's connection with the stable, which had existed for eight years.

Both Mr. Belmont and John Hyland are the best of friends, however, and no one could be more loyal to the Jockey Club and its chairman than is the man who ought to have had all the honors of Beldame's scintillant career. For a man who rode steeplechasers more than thirty years ago, Hyland is a surprisingly young and well preserved man, his good humor is proverbial, he is a keen and pungent critic, and is a gold-mine of highly interesting turf lore, for, in his day he has trained many great race horses. Oddly enough, he has informed the writer, one of the fastest race horses he ever had in his stable was Keenan, which ran second to Bright Phoebeus in the Realization of 1895. Here, again, a rainstorm on the morning of the race day prevented Hyland from scoring a success, for the race was run over a sea of slush and Keenan would not extend himself. The horse was afterward sent to England and later to India.
 He won high-class races in the latter country.

ELLISON WINS ON ELECTION.

Memphis, Tenn., November 6.—Charley Ellison, who reached Memphis election day, is credited with winning thousands of dollars backing Caise H.
 Crump, a youthful candidate, and the long shot against ex-Mayor Williams in the race here Tuesday. Ellison is looking over his thoroughbreds here with an idea of sifting the good from the bad for the New Orleans campaign.

THIRTY LEADING HORSES.

Of the thirty horses that lead all the others in money won in 1907, but three increased their totals in the week expiring yesterday, Ballot, Grapple and McCarter. As a matter of fact the majority of these horses have been retired for the year and not to exceed ten will have further opportunities to win more money before December 31 closes accounts for the year. The thirty leaders, their races, winnings, ages and additions last week

SAM HILDRETH'S BAND OF YEARLINGS

The twenty-nine yearlings which S. C. Hildreth will race at Oakland after the first of the year are mostly the produce of the Elmendorf Stud. One is of Mr. Hildreth's own breeding, the colt by Telamon—Nixius. The breeding of the youngsters, which their owner thinks will be the best stable of two-year-olds at Oakland this winter, are as follows:

Chestnut gelding, by Fatherless—Generine.
 Bay colt, by Box—Elise.
 Bay colt, by Mimic—Star.
 Bay colt, by Mimic—Sweet Lavender.
 Bay colt, by Bute—Julia Hanover.
 Bay or brown colt, by Watercress—Vernette.
 Brown colt, by Telamon—Nixius.

WEIGHTS FOR QUEENSBORO.

The weights for the Queensboro Steeplechase, at two miles and a half, to be run Saturday, were announced yesterday, with Herculeid having the post of honor under 160 pounds. But as Herculeid is not a probable starter, nor Grandpa, the second on the list, it seems likely that Thistledale will be the one to carry the top impost. The weight is 155 pounds, and there doesn't seem to be any good reason why he should not be sent out for the race, inasmuch as he has recovered from his injuries.

Mr. McCann is on even terms with Thistledale, while Jimmy Lane is four pounds away. Mr. Colt is represented also by Gus Straus under 150, Blue Pigeon, 139, Arian, 133, and Rose of Dawn, 132.
 It will be seen, therefore, that he holds a pretty strong hand, as any one of these may be sent out for the race excepting Blue Pigeon, which is on the shelf with a bowed tendon. Pure Pepper, Knight of Elway, Delcanta and Sunglow are each in at a weight which would give them a good winning chance if at their best. The weights are:

Herculeid	160	Blue Pigeon	139
Grandpa	158	Pure Pepper	138
Thistledale	155	Knight of Elway	136
Mr. McCann	155	Sunglow	136
Jimmy Lane	151	Bat	135
Gus Straus	150	Maximilian	134
Delcanta	148	Alamansor	134
Conover	148	Dulcan	134
Pagan Bey	146	Arian	133
Garrett	142	Sinister	133
Essex II.	140	Rose of Dawn	132
Ben Shaw	140	True Boy	130

NEW ORLEANS TRACKS ARE READY.

New Orleans, La., November 6.—A brief inspection of the Fair Grounds today was sufficient to set at rest all rumors as to the progress of work being done there. The track itself, which has been entirely reconstructed, has been in condition to work over for the last two weeks. The grandstand and paddock are completed. All that remains to be done is attention to odd things here and there, the removal of rubbish, etc. J. J. McCafferty got in today from New York with three horses. He is the first of the eastern division to arrive and states that so many big eastern stables will be here that the sport will be pretty much on a par with that around New York in the summer season. Middlewest horsemen are drifting in daily and within the next ten days the stables at both tracks will be pretty well filled up.

The Louisiana half-mile track will be run up to the opening of the regular season except on Sundays and may possibly try to continue.

The Suburban Park track, which closed early in the season, will resume Sunday racing at once.

There is no chance for any interference with racing here this winter, legislative or otherwise. The calling of the special session of the assembly related to anti-trust and corporation measures altogether.

The absence of Clarence McDowell and Mars Cassidy, who will both serve at Benning, will cause the City Park management to install a temporary presiding judge and starter. William Shelly will likely act as presiding judge and Holtman will field the flag until McDowell's and Cassidy's arrival in the Crescent City.

JOCKEY MAHER'S WAY OF LIVING.

Danny Maher owns a beautiful estate at Newmarket and spends most of his time there during the British racing season, motoring to the tracks that are not too far away to make that impracticable.
 He has suites of rooms reserved for him for his racing season in London, in Brighton (for the Good-wood racing), and in Ostend, and he rides in occasional stakes in Belgium.

From top to bottom the Newmarket house, which has twenty-four large rooms, is furnished luxuriously and in perfect taste. Plenty of silken American flags hang about the rooms in appropriate places, too, for this quiet little jockey man, though he has developed a decidedly English way of speaking, which he actually grieves over and fights against all the time, is a United States man right down to his mid-riff and beyond.

Here's just how funny the English life of this richest jockey on earth is:

Out of bed at six, and into three sweaters for a ten-mile run. Then an hour or so at exercising horses, trying out and getting hold of the kinks of some of them he is presently to ride. Right here would be the place for a breakfast consisting of five or six nicely broiled lamb chops, some soft-boiled eggs, toast and a couple of cups of coffee.
 Well, Danny has for his one meal before dinner
 the merest sip of sherry and one small hard "biscuit"—"crackers," as we call them. Then he is ready for the afternoon's riding, on that kind of a forlorn, sobbing stomach. At eight, with his guests, he has dinner. He sits at the head of the table and watches his guests load up on a couple of dozen different kinds of foods, with appropriate moist embellishments—and he himself has a little splinter of rare roast beef, with a tiny dab of boiled spinach or some other vegetable on the side.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The Sandown track, all on the rise, is one of the severest in England.

Tartar Maid was claimed out of the second race at Aqueduct Monday from A. J. Joyner for $1,620
 by H. J. Harris.

Phocian Howard of New York will leave in a few days for California with seven horses, all Keene cast-offs, including Infanta, Sepoy and others.

Ben Pope, former trainer for the Bonniebrook Stable, is attending the races at Pimlico. Pope will train for the Queen City Stable of Toronto next year.

Arthur Birch, the English steeplechase jockey whose back was broken in a fall nearly twelve months ago, is still living and his condition shows improvement.

Henry Bock, a jockey who has just returned from a trip to Europe, has made arrangements to ride for J. R. Walker at Los Angeles the coming winter.
 Walker trains the extensive stable of J. J. Walsh.

Jockey Arthur Morgan is laid up in St. Paul's Sanitarium at Dallas, Texas, with a fractured collar-bone. When released he will go to his home in Covington, Ky., for a rest before the opening at New Orleans.

Jockey Danny Maher rode his one hundredth winner for the season when he steered Persinus to victory in the Montefiore Plate at Gatwick October 24, and was widely complimented thereon when he returned to scale.

Jockey Reed Brooks, whose left leg was broken when he was thrown from his mount in a race at the Texas State Fair last Saturday, will be able to leave the hospital in a few days, when he will go to his home in Collinsville, Ind.

During the last forty-one years the English Cesarewitch has been won by a three-year-old on twenty occasions (including the dead heat of Cypria with Red Eyes in 1893) and by a four-year-old on thirteen (including the dead heat referred to).

The death is reported from Adelaide, South Australia, of Thomas Barnfield. He was for some time
 a member of the Adelaide Racing Club Committee, and was one of a syndicate that backed First Water to win $500,000 in the Melbourne Cup. The race was won by Martini Henry, and First Water came second.

TOM WILLIAMS' CHAMPION RACER.

Racine a Speed Marvel and the Winner of $36,897.

Although already known to be a good colt, Racine first won real fame as a race horse when in a purse race at Washington Park June 28, 1890, he defeated Marion C., Gymnast, Almont, Churchill Clark, X., Cecil B. and Jed at a mile in 1:30 1/2, clipping a quarter of a second from Ten Broeck's mile record, which had stood unbroken since 1878. It was naturally deemed a performance of extreme importance, and the discussion that followed showed such general interest that it led the Monmouth Park Association to give the race against time, in which Salvator ran a mile over a straight course in 1:35 1/2, this race occurring August 28 of the same year.

Racine first started as a two-year-old in the Debut Stakes at San Jose, California, March 30, 1889, and ran third to Pliny and Guido at a half mile in 49 1/2. April 2 he won the Motor Stakes at the same track, defeating Guido and Pliny at five furlongs in 1:02 1/2. April 6 he won the Lick House Stakes from Pliny and Minope at three-quarters in 1:16 1/2. At the Bay District, San Francisco, spring meeting he won the California Stakes at a half mile in 48 1/2, the Select Stakes, at five furlongs in 1:02, and the So So Stakes, at three-quarters in 1:14 1/2. At the Sacramento fall meeting he won the Introductory Stakes, at three-quarters in 1:15 1/2, with 123 pounds up, and the California Autumn Stakes, at the same distance in 1:15. In both his stable mate, Flambeau, ran second and it was claimed that the later was restrained both times to allow Racine to win. While admitting Racine's excellence, Californians have always insisted Flambeau was his superior and there is no doubt that he was a great two-year-old. Later on that fall Racine won two stake races at Stockton, one at San Jose and the Autumn Stakes at San Francisco, the latter a mile in 1:44, with 115 pounds up. His only defeat that year was in the first race in which he started.

His first start as a three-year-old was in a mile dash at San Jose, April 5, which he won easily in 1:42 1/2, with 118 pounds on his back. In the Tidal Stakes and Pacific Derby at San Francisco he ran second to Flambeau. He then won a race at Sacramento and was brought east under lease to Thomas H. Williams, now president of the California Jockey Club. At Washington Park he won three races, all for purses, and was raced no more until at the Morris Park meeting in October. Here he won at a mile from Eon, Kingstock, Volunteer II, and another over a heavy track in 1:44 and took the Protector Stakes from Druidess and Chaos. His last start was for a purse, in which he ran unplaced to G. W. Cook at three-quarters.

After winning two stake races at San Francisco, Racine was again brought east the next year by Mr. Williams. His first start was at the first meeting ever held at Hawthorne and he was beaten by G. W. Cook for the Spirit of the Times Stakes at seven furlongs, but beat Proctor Knott, Geraldine, Helter Skelter and others. Then, in a row he won four purse races at Hawthorne. At the Washington Park meeting he won the Oakwood Handicap and three purses and ran unplaced in the Wheeler Handicap and Boulevard Stakes. Verge d'Or beat him in a purse race at even weights, but in the Oakwood Handicap he carried 124 pounds to 108 on Verge d'Or and running the mile and an eighth in 1:53, defeated the latter easily by a length. From Washington Park he was taken east and won good races at Saratoga and Sheepshead Bay, but with the exception of the Racing Stakes at the latter track, all were for purses.

Racine was not raced in 1892, but came out again in 1893 and won seven races out of twelve starts. His first start was for the Boulevard Stakes at Washington Park, which he won from Riley, Galindo, Maid Marian and three more good ones. Then, after being beaten in two purses and winning one, he was taken to Saratoga where he won the Troy Stakes and Sea Foam Stakes and was beaten in a purse race by Galindo and Highland. He was then taken back to California and, after a successful fall campaign at San Francisco, was retired and sent to the stud the following year with the following high-class record:

Racine, b. h. (1887), by Bishop—Fairy Rose.

AUSTRALIAN BREEDING PROBLEMS.

A writer in the "Australasian" deplors the fact that blinkers have been introduced into Australian racing, and makes some interesting remarks on the comparison of horses bred in the Commonwealth with those raised in England. He says:

The sight of a horse hooded and blinkered, as Tangara was, at the V. A. T. C. meeting, is quite common in England; but, fortunately, Australians do not often see horses got up in this way, and the hope may be expressed that the craze for St. Simon stallions will not lead to such sights becoming common. We are afraid, however, that the next few years will see the Galopin temper and irritability developing in our horses. So far, not much harm has been done. The sobering strains of Sir Hercules, Fisherman, Panic and Musket have counteracted the excitability of the second-class sons of Galopin and his son St. Simon which have been imported to Australia.

It is true that the Victorian breeders have in Rouge Croix, Challenger and Caiman avoided sons of the stallions which have made the "accursed Blacklock blood" so fashionable; but our racing men buy extensively in New South Wales, and there is no denying the pace of these Galopin and St. Simon horses. Pace, of course, is the main thing in a racehorse, and the English racehorse is faster than the Australian, while we have the advantage in staying power, general soundness and temper. At present there is no question about our breed being as good as ever it was. The fear is that as we get further away from the hardy old strains and breed horses closer and closer to the Galopin tribe, our horses will lose their reputation for hardiness, and become more like the English horse of today. Pace will be increased at the expense of soundness and stamina. At present there is not the slightest justification for the assertion of old-time horsemen that the Australian thoroughbred has deteriorated.

Horses like Carbine and Wakeful could carry 140 pounds and run two or three miles in something like twenty seconds better time than it took Tarragon and Panic in the sixties. Time is not everything, and the courses are better now than they were in the time of Panic and Tarragon, but, apart from this, you can take them for make and shape, or hardiness, and there is, so far, no falling off in our race horses. In England one race over a distance at a meeting seems to be enough for any horse. The majority would be quite upset by two races at Ascot. With us, Abercorn, Carbine, Wakeful and other good ones were often seen running on each day of a four days' meeting. Carbine would run on each day and sometimes twice in one day. The old-time champions did not run oftener than this, and in the matter of bone and substance they were not a bit superior to horses like Dividend and Tartan, which came later than Wakeful. Dividend is by a son of St. Simon, but he has the good old Australian blood on the dam's side, and in Wakeful's pedigree the predominating strains are Musket, Fisherman and Panic.

We certainly do not want everything sacrificed to pace, and for this reason we hope our stud-masters will make the most of the blood which has made Australia a reputation for producing sound, hardy horses that can stay as well as sprint. With the exception of France we can give the stayer more encouragement than he gets in any other country, and long may it continue so. That inbreeding to the fashionable sires, whose yearlings fetch high prices, is doing harm in England is coming to be recognized.

SUPPOSITION TO GO TO SAIN.

Barney Schreiber presented a season to his great stallion Sain last Tuesday to Rome Respass. That's equivalent to $2,500, which is the figure Mr. Schreiber charges for service, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

This transaction took place under peculiar circumstances. It did not take place behind darkened windows and doors of a cafe, but right on our principal highway, Vine street.

Barney Schreiber was seated on a wire screen, which rested on open cellar doors in front of the Illinois Central office at the Vine street end of the Emory Arcade. With the genial German was Gene Lutz, the local turfman, and the conversation drifted from Schreiber's bad leg to Cook's seven farms and seven stepbrothers.

From Fifth street came Rome Respass and Colonel Alec Labold, and Will Fizer from across the street, and each one took a hand in the talk. It drifted from the possible sale of Sain to the gift of a season to that stallion to Colonel Milt Young. It turned to the Dick Welles yearlings that Respass has at Latonia at present, and then it went back to the gift season again. "Why didn't you give a season to Sain to Respass?" asked Colonel Labold. "He's got some great mares,"

"He can have one to Bannockburn," answered Schreiber, and added, "by the way, Rome, I refused to sell a season for Martha Gorman, your old mare. When I was in the east I met J. E. Widener, the man that races those jumping horses, and he wanted to know if I had any more like Sheriff Williams, and I told him I had six horses, three of which I thought would prove very serviceable horses at the jumping game. Then he wanted a season to Sain for Martha Gorman, which I declined, and then he talked Colonial Girl. I offered Otto Stifel a free season to her and he declined and now I would not have her at the farm at any price. Mr. Widener then wanted to know why I would not breed Martha Gorman and I told him because he raced nothing but jumpers, and that settled that business."

"That Sain certainly gets speedy horses," said Respass.

"Well, that Dick Welles ought to do the same," said Schreiber. "Why, he's a regular Jim Jeffries among horses. He looks like one of those German horses. But I'll tell you, Rome, to show what I think of you, a season to Sain is yours."

Respass extended his hand and the bargain was closed, Rome saying: "Barney, I'm a thousand times obliged to you, and whenever you feel like breeding one to Dick Welles send her over."

"All right, Rome, I'll think that over," replied Schreiber.

Then followed some talk as to what strain of blood was best to mate with Sain, to which Schreiber replied: "Any. He will get runners with all kinds."

Respass finally decided that the mare Supposition, by Sir Dixon—Rejection, would be a good one, as her dam was a Hindoo filly and her sire by imp. Billet, and this was satisfactory, so some time next year Supposition will travel from Woodlawn Stud, Ohio, to the harem of Sain at Woodlands, Mo.
